

TRADITIONAL CURRIES

Here you will find the popular curries & traditional ones. Please choose your style of cooking followed by your choice of filling.

Curry Dish

a traditional plain curry

Madras

a southern Indian version of the dish found in central & eastern India, having greater portions of tomato puree & those spices which lend to a fiery taste & it's richness.

Vindaloo

related to the 'Madras' but involving a greater use of spices, ginger & black pepper. It owes it's name & in parts it's contents to the early Portuguese settlers.

Samber

related to the Ceylon, a hot spicy dish based upon the use of lentils with fresh lemon added to obtain a sharp & distinctive flavour.

Koraie

the character of the dish is derived from the garlic, ginger, green peppers & tomatoes all fried with fresh spices & topped with onions.

Bhuna

combinations fried together to provide a dish of medium strength & rather dry consistency.

Rogon Josh

the dish is derived from the tomatoes & onions fried in spiced oil in a manner which produces a dish of similar strength to the Madras & milder than Vindaloo.

Dupiaza

a method of preparation specially suitable for meat of fowl which is briskly fried with fresh onion, black pepper, cinnamon, bay leaves & cardamoms.

Jalfrezi

cooked with capsicum, onion, tomatoes & hot green chillies.

Korma

a mild use of spices using yoghurt to create by it's delicacy the flavour & creamy texture.

Danchak

of Persian origin this tends to be mild yet derives a piquant richness from its blend of spiced oil with garlic, pineapples & milk which belies apparent confusion of it's ingredients.

Malay

oriental dish cooked in a medium sauce, lychee & pineapple.

Suryah

a variety of spices are used in the preparation of this sauce, when cream, coconut & bananas are added the result is mild & very tasty.
